THE CAMPAIGN IS UNDERTAKEN

Means Snug Sum For Public Library.

And in Consequence Thereof Several Hundred New Books on Shelves of Institution—Campaign Began Yesterday At Dinner Given the Workers by Mr. E. P. Wharton—Task of Raising $2,500 Entered Into Enthusiastically.

The ten companies under the leadership of General E. P. Wharton and L. J. Brandt, who so successfully raised the money for the Y. M. C. A. building, yesterday afternoon entered enthusiastically into the work of raising $2,500 with which to purchase new books for the public library. The whirlwind campaign will continue through today and the workers will make their report at a meeting to be held on Monday night. However, little or no active work will be done after today.

The campaign was successfully launched yesterday at the luncheon given the workers by Mr. E. P. Wharton in the Guilford hotel, there being fully a hundred of the workers present.

Municipal Judge N. L. Eure, by request of Mr. Wharton, invoked the divine blessing.

Before the luncheon had been concluded, Mr. Jos. J. Stone reported on the progress of the movement for the Y. M. C. A. building. He said that it was hoped that inside of the three weeks at the latest work would begin on the building.

After the workers had done full justice to a well prepared menu they repaired to the reception hall where Mr. E. P. Wharton called the meeting to order and explained the purpose of the movement. He said that the library has always observed the pay as you go policy and no bills were ever made that could not be met promptly. For this reason but little has been expended on books in the past several years as the annual appropriations were nearly all taken up with the salaries of the librarian and assistant and the janitor, the lights, fuel and numerous incidental expenses. He assured the workers that there was no debt to be wiped out, neither would a single cent of the subscriptions be used in defraying the expenses of the campaign as all expenses had been arranged for by several citizens. He then called on Prof. W. C. Jackson.

Prof. Jackson told of the needs of the children's department in the library; that when the library started there were 1500 books for children, of which number 600 have worn out. The average attendance daily of children at the institution is 75, he said. He spoke of the fact that recently 35 new books for children were placed on the shelves and so great was the demand that the entire collection was exhausted within half an hour after the doors were opened. He stated that the institution needed at least 2,000 new books for children, the average price being about 60 cents. Mr. S. L. Alderman also made a short talk on the value of the library to the children.

Dr. W. P. Beall, chairman of the book committee, then spoke of the great need for more books, especially in the children's department. He said the institution needed $2,500 worth of books.

Rev. Melton Clark spoke of the value of the library to the city and community. He pointed out the fact that men, women and children, of all trades and professions can use with profit the reference books, guides and other pamphlets, besides many valuable books. Often, he said, the business man can save himself much unnecessary labor and trouble by a trip to the library. He urged that the business men of the city take greater interest in the institution.

Short talks were made by Messrs. J. H. Martin, E. P. Wharton and L. J. Brandt, the two latter explaining the business side of the campaign. Each speaker spoke of the efficiency of the library management.

The subscription cards were then passed around and the workers started out. Some began their work yesterday afternoon, while others will not begin until this morning. Subscriptions will be taken for amounts ranging from $1 to $10. If a person desires to pay cash he can do so.

FOOTBALL GAME HERE TOMORROW

Greensboro High School Will Play Reidsville High—Visitors Are the Heaviest But Locals Will Try To Make Up In Speed and Skill What They Lack In Weight.

Within the past few weeks the boys of the Athletic Association of the Greensboro High School have organized a football team, turned out a squad, and are daily giving and receiving the hard knocks necessary to attain efficiency in this game of strength and skill.

This efficiency will be tested upon a rival for the first time Saturday, Oct. 8 when the team will meet the heavy bunch from Reidsville High School. Greensboro and Reidsville have met on the gridiron several times during the past three years, with success always on the side of the locals, who have thrice won the High School championship of the State.

With this record to maintain, and as the superior weight of the visitors must be offset by speed and cunning, Greensboro will put forth every effort to conquer in the first battle of the season.

The able coaching of Mr. S. Clay Williams has helped immeasurably in the task of turning out a strong team. All the boys are determined to win however hard the struggle.

STATE W. C. T. U.

A Resume of the Work Done At the Recent Convention in New Bern.

The 28th annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. of North Carolina met in Centenary Methodist church, New Bern, on Oct. 1, Miss Elizabeth Moore, president, in the chair. The executive committee met during the entire day Saturday and planned the work.

Sunday the national organizer, Miss Lillian Phelps, occupied the pulpit both morning and evening, and as the earnest words of truth came from her lips the whole great audience was stirred to a realizing sense of the awful power and devastating influence of the liquor traffic.

Monday the regular work of the convention was entered upon and at noon the president's address, which was full and complete, was listened to with marked attention and the editor of the White Ribbon requested to have it appear in the paper. From four to six that afternoon the ladies were attending a reception given by the ladies of the local union. Again Monday night Miss Phelps gave another powerful appeal to Christian people to do away with the saloons.

HINES—HOLT.

Marriage of Well Known Couple in Eastern Part of County Last Evening.

At the home of the bride's father, four miles east of Greensboro, Mr. Oscar Wesley Hines and Miss Georgia Holt were united in marriage last night, Rev. S. T. Barber, of the M. E. church, and pastor of the East Greensboro circuit, officiating. Only the immediate family of the bride were present.

The bridegroom is a young business man of McLeansville and a member of one of eastern Guilford's best families, while the bride is a talented and most attractive young woman and the eldest daughter of Mr. S. C. Holt. She was educated at Guilford College and Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Hines will reside at McLeansville in the home recently purchased by Mr. Hines.

Masonic and Eastern Star Home.

Mr. L. M. Clymer will leave today at noon for Salisbury to attend the meeting of the directors of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home. Greensboro and Shelby are both pulling for the location of the institution, but local Masons believe that Greensboro will be chosen. It is likely that several Masons will go down to urge Greensboro's claims before the board.

Municipal Court.

The only case in Municipal court yesterday morning was the one against Eugene McDowell, the charge being carrying a concealed weapon. The defendant failed to appear and judgment nisi and alias warrant was entered. A bond of $25 had been given by the defendant.

Gen. Royster To Speak Here.

On the night of October 18 Gen. Beverly F. Royster, of Granville, will make a political speech in the hall over the Proximity Store. Gen. Royster is an able speaker and will no doubt be heard by a large audience. On the night of the 19th he will speak in High Point.

SUPREME COURT SETTLES ISSUE

Says Homestead is Not an Estate.

Holds That It Is Only An Exemption Right Personal to Homesteader—Issue Has Been Disturbing Element In N. C. Laws—J. I. Case Company Domesticated—Prominent Citizen Injured by Automobile.

Raleigh, Oct. 6.—An issue that has been a disturbing element in North Carolina laws as to the homestead is just settled by the Supreme Court in the case of Lumber Co. vs. Parker et al from New Hanover. It is to whether a homestead is an "estate," the Supreme court, Chief Justice Clark writing the opinion, holding that it is not, but only an exemption right which is personal to the homesteader that ceases with the sale of the property involving the homestead.

Mr. C. B. Edwards, who is one of Raleigh's most prominent and best known retired business men—for many years a member of the firm of Edwards & Broughton, printers and book binders, had the misfortune to be struck by an automobile this forenoon in such a way that while his injuries are not dangerous, he was badly shaken up and bruised. He was at the corner of Martin and Fayetteville streets. He did not see the machine approach and stepped backwards while talking to a friend in such a way as to be struck by the rear wheel as the machine was turning the corner. It was the machine of D. F. Crinkley, one of the lightest in town and this probably accounts for his getting out of the accident with as little injury as he did.

The secretary of state recorded today domestication papers for the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Co., of Racine, Wis., the company intending to do business in this state with Greensboro as the principal office and O. C. Clingman in charge there for the sale of threshing machines, and traction engines. Also automobiles and similar vehicles. Charters are also issued for four new corporations. The Whitaker's Oil Mill Co., of Nash county, capital $50,000 by W. T. Braswell and others; the Asheville Piano Co., capital $50,000 for making and selling pianos and other musical instruments, Chas. Nichols principal incorporator; the Graham Milling Co., of Alamance county, capital $20,000, by C. P. Harden and others.

In the case of Thomas J. Newsome vs. Western Union Telegraph Co., in which the court below, Sampson county, allowed the plaintiff $524 damages for an error in signing the name Sessions instead of Newsome in a telegram ordering four gallons of liquor from Benson, N. C., to be shipped to Thomas, Sampson county, where Newsome was making up a raft of logs and rosin to be floated to Wilmington, the Supreme Court, Judge Brown writing the opinion, rules that only nominal damages can be allowed in such a case. The jury had allowed damages on the ground that failure of Newsome to get the whiskey caused his raft hands to refuse to work in the water, making the raft so it could be floated in a certain freshet, this causing him to miss a profitable sale of timber and rosin and making it impossible for him to meet certain banking obligations. Justice Brown pronounces such allotment of damages too far a cry as so many things could happen between constructing the raft at Thomas and marketing the timber at Wilmington. He declares: "Whiskey is very potential at times but it cannot be relied upon to produce such beneficial results as is claimed for it in this case."

The History of Orange County from the pen of Mr. Francis Nash is the principal feature of the North Carolina Booklet for October, published by the North Carolina Society Daughters of the Revolution for so many years and so successfully in the interest of North Carolina history. Part I of the history is given in this October number of the Booklet and it will be completed with Part II in the next issue.

The Hearing Saturday.

The hearing of the case against Maude Ashe, the negro woman charged with the larceny of a quantity of clothes from a clothes line, will take place Saturday before Justice Collins. The defendant is under a $50 bond for her appearance in court.

MISS BOULDIN; MR. KLEEMEIER

Beautiful Church Wedding Last Evening.

Ceremony Uniting This Popular Young Couple In Marriage Performed At First Presbyterian Church by Rev. Melton Clark—Reception Followed Wedding—Mr. and Mrs. Kleemeier Off On Bridal Tour—Many Gifts.

The First Presbyterian church was the scene of a beautiful and impressive marriage ceremony last night at nine o'clock when Miss Helen Chambers Bouldin was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Mr. John Augustus Kleemeier.

The church was artistically decorated with white flowers and many candles placed against a background of palms and ferns. The audience, which filled every seat and even standing room in both the main auditorium and the annex, was entertained prior to the ceremony with a splendid musical program beautifully rendered by Mr. Claude Robeson, organist, Mr. Roy, violinist, and Mr. Lahser, flutist.

As the bridal party stood in the vestibule before entering, Miss Sadie Dick in a voice exquisitely sweet, sang that immortal love song, Schubert's "Serenade." The processional, the bride's chorus from Lohengrin, signaled the entrance of the ushers, Mr. Ernest Copeland, and Mr. Clarence Ledgerton, of Charlotte, coming in by the right aisle and Mr. Arthur Coffin and Mr. Don G. Scott coming in by the left.

The bridesmaids followed: Miss Mary Callum, in pink messaline, advancing down the right aisle as Miss Elizabeth Bouldin, wearing a gown of pale green messaline, came down the left aisle, preceding Miss Lillian Gaine, who entered by the right aisle wearing a pink messaline gown, while Miss Myrtle Ham, in green messaline, came down the left aisle; all of the bridesmaids carrying armfuls of LaFrance roses.

The ring bearer, Master Douglas Taylor Scales, in a suit of white, carrying a long stemmed American Beauty Rose, on the petals of which lay the wedding ring, came down the right aisle and was followed by the maid of honor, Miss Mary Burwell Strudwick, who wore a lovely gown of white crepe-de-chine and carried Bridesmaid's roses.

A lovely picture was made by the two little flower girls, Mary and Virginia Denny, who, wearing empire gowns of white batiste and lace with wide pink sashes, kept time to the music as down opposite aisles they came carrying baskets filled with pink and white blossoms.

The groom with his best man, Mr. Ransom Mosely Middleton, came from the pastor's study as the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. Riscoe Baldwin Bouldin, entered the door. She was a vision of beauty in her wedding gown of white duchess satin, made en traine and trimmed with duchess lace and pearl ornaments. Her tulle veil, caught to her golden hair with a coronet of orange blossoms, fell like a mist over her fair face softly enveloping the whole gown. The lace bertha was caught to her gown with a pearl brooch, which has been worn by brides of the family for four generations. The gift of the groom, a magnificent pearl brooch, was worn at the throat. Her bouquet was of Bride roses with a shower of lilies of the valley. At the altar her father placed her hand in that of the groom and Rev. Melton Clark impressively and reverently spoke the sacred words of the marriage vows. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as the recessional.

Following the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's parents on South Edgeworth street where a beautiful reception was tendered hundreds of friends calling to extend felicitations to the happy couple.

Misses Roberta Strudwick and Elizabeth Clary received the cards at the front door, while Mrs. W. E. Allen welcomed the guests and showed them into the parlor where the receiving line was composed of the entire bridal party and the bride's parents.

The Bride's Book on a table in the hall was presided over by Misses Mary Watt and Josephine Vaughn.

Charles Harrison and Misses Annie Land and Annie Reid.

Delightful refreshments were served by Misses Elizabeth Scales and Isabella Bouldin.

Miss Katie Watkins invited the guests into the gift room where hundreds of beautiful and useful gifts were shown them by Misses Susie and Katherine Friend. Misses Marguerite Callum and Susie Gunter presided over the punch bowl, which was surrounded by a bower of flowers.

Throughout the reception hours Miss Florence Hunt, pianist, furnished delightful music.

The bride and groom left on No. 29 for Southern cities and will be at home in this city with Mrs. G. O. Wilson on North Edgeworth street November 1. The bride's going-away gown was a beautiful tailored suit of brown broadcloth with hat and gloves to match.

The bride, who has resided in this city since childhood, is a young woman of unusual charm and possesses a very beautiful character as well as beauty of person, and while her sweet and gentle manner has drawn to her scores of loving friends her lofty ideals and noble impulses have won the admiration of all with whom she has come in contact. The groom is one of the most highly esteemed young business men of the city and is secretary and treasurer of the Wyson & Miles Company. He is a man of sterling worth and broad charity, holding the confidence and admiration of his business associates as well as that of scores of friends.

There were many out of town guests to attend the wedding both from Virginia and North Carolina.

FALL GOLF TOURNAMENT

It Will Be Held on Oct. 19, 20 and 21—A Golf Instructor Here.

The fall golf tournament of the Greensboro Golf Club will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 19, 20 and 21. Mr. George Eddy, until a few months ago golf instructor to the Penzance Golf Club, England, and during this summer golf instructor at Linville, N. C., has been installed as golf instructor here and already has a class of about twenty-five members who are taking lessons under him.

Mr. Eddy teaches the game as played by James Braid, the great English professional and the best authority on the subject.

More than usual interest is being manifested in the approaching tournament. The first prize will be a silver cup which was played for in the spring tournament, but which will have to be won by the same player at three tournaments before it becomes his possession. There will be other prizes for those who demonstrate their skill in the game.

HE PAYS HIS TAXES BUT HE GETS NO PROTECTION

Mr. Howard Believes That He Is Not Getting a Square Deal From the City.

To the City Fire Department and the City Officials at large:

I have this to say. I live inside of the city limits of Greensboro. I have no water, no street, no lights and no mail. I pay the last cent of tax that I am due and where is the justice? I have run the risk of my life twice to save my store and have yet got to see the first fire wagon of any kind on the place. Are we treated right? Yours for justice, H. M. Howard, 902 Julian street.

Sale of Unclaimed Freight.

The Southern's sale of unclaimed freight was conducted yesterday at the former stand of the McLean Grocery Company on South Davie street. There were parties here from several states to bid on the numerous and sundry articles that are offered at these sales. Mr. R. L. England was the auctioneer.

A Surprise Marriage.

Gibsonville, Oct. 6.—A late sensation in this village is that Miss Trout and Mr. Gilmer May went to Greensboro Tuesday night and were married in that city. The wedding was a distinct surprise as the young people did not let their relatives know of their intentions until the knot had been tied.

CLEANING UP ALMOST OVER

Work Will Probably be Completed Today.

Superintendent Harrison Stated Last Night That About Three Fourths of City Had Been Covered—Many Loads of Trash and Garbage Removed—The Route For Today—Those Overlooked Should Call Headquarters.

The task of cleaning up the city, which was begun in earnest Tuesday morning is three-fourths completed, according to a statement made by City Superintendent of Health Edmund Harrison, who has the work in charge. With good weather it is hoped to cover the remainder of the city today and unless the workers are hindered this will be done.

Hundreds of loads of trash and garbage have been hauled out of the city during the three days the work has been in progress. And in this connection it should be mentioned that an average of sixty loads per week is hauled off regularly by the city trash wagons. Had it not been for this it would have taken two weeks for the special wagons to have covered the city. It is interesting to notice the different kinds of trash a wagon collects. A reporter passed one of the wagons yesterday as it was bound for the dumping ground and nearly every imaginable article of trash was stored in the wagon. To cap the climax several old worn chairs had been placed as sideplanks to the wagon and an additional supply of trash laid on.

Dr. Harrison states that it is quite probable that some have been overlooked by the drivers in making their rounds. The Telegram is requested to state that if any person who has been overlooked will phone 797 a wagon will be sent around immediately.

The route for today will be about as follows and all residents are asked to have their trash and garbage ready when the wagons arrive on their streets as this will greatly facilitate the work: First ward—The wagons start on North Mendenhall street and work westward by street. Second ward—the wagons begin on Percy street and work eastward by street. Third ward—wagons start on Gorrell street and work eastward by streets. Fourth ward—wagons start on South Spring street and work westward by streets. Fifth ward—wagons start on Dillard street and work westward by streets. Sixth ward—wagons start on Douglas street and work eastward by streets.

Well Known Grocery Firm Now Occupies Its Own Building.

Patterson Bros., Inc., have moved into their new store several doors South of their former stand.

The store is provided with a fine, roomy basement with cement floor. The width of the place greatly improves the opportunity for displaying goods.

Patterson Brothers is now an incorporated firm but the stock is all owned by the three individuals whose tireless industry has been responsible for the rapid growth of the business—Miss Mollie Patterson, Mr. R. L. Patterson and Mr. George O. Fowler. They have been congratulated by many in the last few days on their beautiful grocery store.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality, causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

NOT ENOUGH WEDDINGS.

Marrying Parson Asks Congregation to Give Him More Work.

New York, Oct. 6.—There have been too few marriages among the young people of his congregation, is the opinion of Rev. George Whitehead, pastor of the Bergen Point Methodist Episcopal Church, Bayonne. He so told his flock, and expressed the wish that he be called upon more frequently in the future to unite couples.

It was during a reception given by the ladies of the church in commemoration of the twentieth anniversary of the organization that the pastor expressed his views on the marriage question, and his remarks caused quite a sensation, particularly among the young men and women who are of marriageable age. In introducing Mattie Casey, who spoke in behalf of the young people of the church, the minister said:

"You young people must give me more to do. I have been known as the 'Marrying Parson,' but I have not been called upon to marry one of our couples since the new marriage law went into effect. If things do not live up to considerably before long I will quite forget how to tie the wedding knot."

Miss Casey, who is engaged to be married, was aware that the pastor's remarks were intended for her. She looked over at the dominie and said: "Oh, Mr. Whitehead." All over the room young men and women glanced sheepishly at one another, and some of the older members nodded their heads in approval of the pastor's gentle rebuke at the failure of the young people to get married.

Chicago Physicians Claims a Most Important Discovery.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Dr. J. B. Murphy, president of the American Medical Association, is on the eve of an announcement of what physicians say is one of the most important discoveries in the history of surgery. The discovery is two-fold in character and is to the effect that ankylosis or stiffening of the joints, from any cause except tuberculosis, is preventable and that where joints have become stiffened through inflammation, there may be cut open and new pliable joints made.

The new method of treatment of acute joint inflammations is destined, it is stated, to relieve mankind from a most acute and dreaded form of suffering and from permanent crippled conditions that usually result from acute inflammation of the joints.

THE INCUBATOR DOG.

Plan Tried With Success and May Be Used By Breeders.

New York World.
Dogs have long shared with babies their mistress' affection, but they are now going one step further and encroaching upon what has been regarded as a baby's own peculiar possession, the incubator.

From now on we may expect to see them utilized by dog fanciers for raising particular breeds of prize winners, and the profession of the old-fashioned dog-raiser will be a forgotten art.

Properly enough it was woman that discovered the double value of the incubator. Miss Mindell Kingston has made a hobby of dogs and of dog rearing and has owned nearly every sort of dog that can be found in the catalogue. She has two pets that claim India as their home, three from Alaska and one from Brazil.

Last May one of her most valued dog mammas presented her with nine little charges, but died before she could say "Howdy" to them.

Miss Kingston in a moment of inspiration thought of the incubator. A veterinarian when consulted was dubious about the idea, but Miss Kingston decided it was worth risking, and soon had her little family encased in their little cradle, getting heat and air and nourishment and apparently not minding the absence of their real mamma.

Says He Got Her Property and Deserted Her.

Philadelphia, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Margaret Bromiley, a bride of 10 months, has begun equity proceedings through her father, Joseph Chambers, in Common Pleas Court, against her husband, James Walter Bromiley, and his father, James Bromiley, to obtain an order for her maintenance.

Mrs. Bromiley, who is 18 years old, was married in Wilmington last January and lived with her husband, who is 21 years old, until July 8, when she declares he left her.

She charges that through the persuasion of his father, her husband went to Wernersville, Pa., but his present whereabouts are unknown to her. In addition, she declares that she and her husband were part owners of the property at 1112 Herbert street, Frankford, but that she was persuaded to assign her interest to the elder Bromiley upon the belief that the property would be sold immediately and that she would get half of the proceeds in addition to $6 a week support.

Mrs. Bromiley said that she had received no support, and she asked an injunction order to restrain the encumbering of the property.

HONEY AND HARD WINTER.

Bee Hunters Back Prophecy By Storage Found in Trees.

Waynesboro, Pa., Oct. 6.—Old woodsmen, bee-hunters and other "weather-wise men" in this section are prophesying a long and severe winter.

To back up their prophecy they are pointing to the fact that the wild bees have laid by an unusually large supply of honey this year. There have been exceptionally large numbers of bee trees cut in the woods around Pen Mar, Charmion and Edgemont this fall, and in every case the yield of honey has far exceeded the expectations of the hunters. Several days ago, it is reported, William Pervance and Philip Needham, who were camping near Stone's run, found and cut five bee trees. They secured more than 450 pounds of the finest wild honey.

HOW A MATCH WAS MADE

By EMMA R. SHORTALL

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Mme. Benardier was worried about her son, Gaston. He was thirty-five years old and not married. But one thing would comfort his mother, and that was to spend her last days lavishing upon a grandson the care she had long been denied the pleasure of expending upon her son.

But Gaston had an uncle, a crusty old bachelor, who had been jilted in his youth and who hated all women for what he had suffered from one. This uncle had poisoned his nephew's mind against the sex. Besides this, Gaston enjoyed his bachelorhood so well that he refused to marry.

One day the young man came home from Paris and went to bed with a serious illness. A doctor examined the patient and informed his mother that her son must have a trained nurse.

"But he won't let a woman, except me, come near him."

"He must!"

The doctor and Mme. Benardier conferred for an hour, at the end of which time the doctor informed Gaston that he must have a nurse. The young man said no woman should enter his room. Whereupon the doctor told him that he would send a man nurse.

"Well upon my word!" exclaimed Gaston when he first saw his nurse. "You're nothing but a boy. What the dickens are you going to do for me?"

"Take your temperature and your pulse, give you your medicine and when you need amusement amuse you."

"Well, I don't see any objection to that. This is dull music lying here alone. Go and get a book. I wish you to read to me. What's your name?"

"Antoine, monsieur."

"Judging from your appearance, you had better have been christened Antoinette. Go to the library and bring 'The Count of Monte Cristo.' I've read it half a dozen times, but that doesn't matter."

Antoine got the book, placed a chair by a window, sat down and began to read.

"Bring your chair closer," said Gaston; "I can't hear you so far away. Where did you get that soft voice of yours? You'll never do to shout orders to soldiers."

The boy brought his chair nearer and commenced again. Gaston listened rather to the musical tones of his voice than to the story. It seemed to him that he was lulled by some one playing on a zither. The nurse read a couple of hours, when, looking up, he saw that the patient slept. Closing the book, he stole away and left the invalid to his repose.

When Gaston awakened he felt much refreshed. He called for his nurse and told him that he had heard all he had read for nearly two hours, then had fallen asleep, dreaming that there was a harp in the room upon which Antoine was playing, only Antoine was not a boy, but a charming girl.

"What are you blushing for?" Gaston asked.

"Why, monsieur, I have always suffered from being called effeminate. I'm very sensitive about it. I beg of you not to speak of it again."

"Well, then, you little fool, I won't do it again. I don't blame you for not wishing to be considered like a woman. I have no use for them myself."

"The Count of Monte Cristo" is a long book and a very entertaining one. Before Antoine had half finished reading it the doctor called one morning, told Gaston that he would not need a nurse any longer and that Antoine was to go to another patient.

"Not on your life," said Gaston, "till he has finished reading 'The Count of Monte Cristo' to me."

"This will put me to a serious inconvenience," protested the doctor.

"Can't help it. You must get some one else."

"Well, then, I will tell you something that will induce you to part with Antoine. You would not have a woman nurse, and I could not get you a man, so I get a girl and dressed her in man's clothes."

"Pshaw!"

"Now I suppose you give up."

"I don't care if she is a ghoul; she shall finish the book."

The doctor gave in and reported the matter to Mme. Benardier, who seemed delighted with what had taken place.

"I leave you, madame, to tell him the rest at the proper time."

When the nurse appeared again to her patient she was in the apparel of her sex. Gaston was enraptured. He told her to go on with "The Count of Monte Cristo," but to read only a chapter a day. What puzzled him was that she had the breeding of a lady and when not in nurse's uniform her costumes were of a fine texture.

"Mother," said Gaston one day, "I am in trouble. You know that our family has never made a misalliance. Well, you have done very wrong in introducing this girl as my nurse. I have fallen in love with her, and life would be a burden to me without her."

"Be comforted, my son. The doctor and I have conspired to win you from your contempt for women. The girl is Antoinette du Pierris, the daughter of our neighbor Count du Pierris. Wishing as well as I to make a match between you two, the count consented to our scheme. Antoinette is a lovely girl. I congratulate you if you have won her."

"I have, mother."

The G. O. P. in South Carolina proposes to reorganize. Inspired doubtless by Democratic achievement in Maine.

Hoke Smith was on Wednesday re-elected Governor of Georgia. There was a bolters' ticket headed by Governor Brown without his consent, but Smith carried every county but two. In the county of Tom Watson, who led the revolt against Smith, the Smith vote was two to one. Tom Watson is certainly a good man to have against you.

Despite the fact that Hearst's papers defied the Democrats to "match" Stimson, Hearst's Independence League nominated one Hopper for Governor of New York and Hearst for Lieutenant Governor. Hearst was on the ocean Wednesday and the wireless was not working. He may upset the program on his return to this country.

The Shelby correspondent of the Raleigh News and Observer says that Marion Butler spoke at that place like a man already condemned. The ex-Senator is not a good political prognosticator if he does not foresee the severe rebuke which the State of North Carolina will administer to him this fall. Many Republicans join the united Democracy in its strong dislike for Marion Butler.

The International Prison Association finds that Russia is far behind other nations in the matter of decreasing the number of death sentences. The association need not expect to find Russia anywhere except at the rear of the forces which make for humanitarianism. While some countries perhaps do not have enough executions for the public good, Russia has an enormously large number of such executions.

Naturally the Winston Journal is better posted on Winston's railroad prospects than The Telegram for "to be on the ground" is always an advantage in arriving at the true inwardness of things. But we have always been under the impression that the much heralded "Southbound" was to be a link in what would eventually be a new railroad system for the South that would give Winston real railroad competition. We are informed by the Journal that such a consummation was never in mind.

The Charlotte Observer in its department of "Textile News and Gossip" says that "it is commonly believed that with the development of the demand of the fall trade, the conditions will be bound to improve under such circumstances and that a better day is immediately ahead of the textile interests of the South." It is to be hoped that the Observer's optimistic view is justified by the facts. The starting up of the cotton mills on full time would help business substantially.

A good deal has been said about the attitude of Dr. John M. Faison, Democratic nominee for Congress in the Third district, towards public schools. It has all been based, as we understand it, on a single argument that Dr. Faison made before the Duplin County Board of Education, which argument appears to be stated with fairness in the following statement signed by reputable Duplin county people:

Faison, N. C., Sept. 10, 1910.

We, the undersigned citizens of Duplin county, N. C., were present at the discussion of the local tax school for the entire precinct of Faison before the Duplin County Board of Education (not before the joint Board of Education and County Commissioners) so stated in the News-Dispatch (as there had been no joint meeting) and we heard Dr. Faison's statement. He was opposing taking ing away the white schools at Crow's School house and Shine's school house and incorporate these in one school at Faison, because these little white children would be compelled to walk 5 1-2 and 4 miles respectively, to school, and the County Board of Education sustained the objection which was wise and considerate. In the course of his remarks he stated that he was opposed to and would change the public schools system of the State, because he opposed negro education by the whites to the disadvantage of the white children and furthermore stated that there were about 200 more negro children in this whole district than white children, and the negroes already enjoyed a six months school from additional help from the North and that such a local tax for the entire district would put an eight months school at the door of these negroes and destroy a four months school now at the door of these white children, which he considered a great injustice to these white children of this district, particularly after these schools had been established and built for their special convenience. Dr. Faison confined his remarks to what he considered best for all the white children of Faison precinct and the County Board of Education refused to consolidate this territory because it would be unjust to the white school children living so far from town, as he stated. Dr. Faison's statement could not be construed by any intelligent, fair-minded man to mean that he opposed or would overthrow, destroy, demolish "or abolish" the public school system of North Carolina, but would improve it by such a change, he thought.

Such statements published in the correspondence of Mr. George Butler in the News-Dispatch of last week, are false and misleading and purposely calculated to do Dr. Faison a gross injustice, which all honest white men will repudiate in due time.

Signed.

T. W. SMITH,
L. TAYLOR,
C. S. HINES,
I. L. FAISON,
G. W. COOPER.

There is nothing in this statement of facts to warrant the wholesale criticism that has been leveled against the Democratic candidate from the Third district. Most whites, we should think, would "oppose negro education by the whites to the disadvantage of the white children."

BOY TAKES LARGE CHECK FROM A LOCAL BANK.

Accomplice Caught Trying To Get It Cashed and the Erring Lad Is Soon Arrested.

Major Garland, a small negro boy yesterday morning called at the Bank of South Greensboro and presented a check for $122.80 and asked for the cash. The check, which was properly endorsed, was drawn on the Elmwood bank and signed by J. J. Long & Son, shoe dealers of Elmwood. The check was made payable to the Elkin Shoe Company, of Elkin. Mr. Sides suspected that something was wrong and detained the boy while the police were notified. Officers Causey and Isley responded and took the Major into custody. He stated that the check was given him by a boy by the name of John Weaver to get it cashed, being promised $2 for his work. He was to return the money to the fair grounds where the boys were waiting.

The officers went out with their prisoner and he pointed out the boy who gave him the check. He tried to get away, but was soon captured. The Weaver boy stated that the check had been given him by Odell Seurlock to get the money, being promised half of the amount called for. With the money they were to operate a booth at the fair. He said that Seurlock told him that he had stolen the check from the Commercial National Bank on Wednesday afternoon.

Seurlock was then taken into custody and questioned and he admitted the theft. He stated that he went into the bank to get a drink of water and saw the check lying handy and picked it up. He offered Weaver half of the money if he would get the check cashed.

The boys were given a hearing before Justice Collins yesterday afternoon on the charge of larceny, being held for court. Seurlock's bond was fixed at $100 and Weaver's at $50, both of which were arranged for.

NOVEL EXHIBIT AT THE FAIR

Wysong & Miles Co. Will Exhibit Trick Band Sawyer and Novelty Wood Lathe Turner—Machines Will Be In Operation Daily.

The Wysong & Miles Co. of Greensboro, N. C., who have for many years had an interesting exhibit at the Central Carolina Fair, have arranged for a novel exhibit this year. There will be on exhibition a trick band sawyer and a novelty wood lathe turner. There will be in actual operation a band saw operated by an expert in this line, who will take a single block of wood and in about three minutes turn out a small rocking chair and several other pieces of furniture, and the trick is to put them all together after they have been sawed out.

There will also be in operation a wood turning lathe by an expert turner who will manufacture all kinds of turned novelties. This will be a very interesting exhibit and will be of interest to every expert mechanic as well as young boys, who want to see what can be accomplished with a band saw and a turning lathe. These machines will be in operation daily in the exhibit of the Wysong & Miles Co. and every one interested in expert band sawing and expert wood turning should avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting the fair and examining the machines in actual operation.

Saved by Her Voice.

When traveling to Paris with some other ladies on one occasion Mme. Grisi had a thrilling adventure. At a small wayside station a man entered the carriage, and it soon became evident from his threatening gestures and eccentric behavior that he was a dangerous lunatic. Though her companions were panic stricken, Mme. Grisi retained complete presence of mind and with the utmost composure began to sing. At once the maniac was quiet. His whole attention was riveted on that magnificent voice, and he remained the most appreciative of listeners until the train reached the next station, where he was secured. It transpired subsequently that he was a maniac with homicidal tendencies who had escaped from an asylum.

WILL HOLTON "COME BACK?"

Challenged To Enter Forensic Arena With Ex-Speaker E. J. Justice.

Ex-Speaker E. J. Justice is scheduled to make a political address in the court house on the evening of Tuesday, Oct. 11, and County Chairman Sherrill has sent a challenge to District Attorney A. E. Holton to discuss the issues with Mr. Justice.

It will be remembered that Mr. Holton spoke here some weeks ago and shortly afterwards in a speech at Madison Mr. Justice answered some of Mr. Holton's speech to the disgruntlement of the district attorney, who came back in a newspaper interview. In view of this fact when it became known that Mr. Justice had been billed for Greensboro Chairman Sherrill at once sent Mr. Holton a challenge to meet the ex-Speaker in the forensic arena, offering to divide the time with him. As yet no reply has been received from Mr. Holton and Greensboro Democrats are now wondering if he will "come back."

There is some talk that Mr. Holton may not feel able to "come back" and may substitute ex-Senator Marion Butler in his stead, since that person has frequently boasted of his oratorical powers along political lines. If either Mr. Holton or Mr. Butler desire to debate with Mr. Justice there would be an enormous crowd present and it is doubtful if the court house would hold the audience.

Mr. Sherrill's challenge follows: Hon. A. E. Holton, Winston-Salem, N. C. Dear Sir:

When you spoke in Greensboro you took positions on trust and tariff questions which the Democrats think are utterly untenable. You have entered into a newspaper controversy with Mr. E. J. Justice, in which you seek to relieve the Republican party of the responsibility for the existence of the trusts, and placed the blame on the Democratic party. The people of the State are interested in this controversy, and the people of Greensboro would be glad to have a joint discussion between you and Mr. Justice. Mr. Justice is billed to speak in Greensboro on the night of October 11, at 7:30, and I respectfully invite you to a division of time with Mr. Justice on this occasion. I will send a copy of this letter to Hon. J. M. Morehead, State chairman of the Republican executive committee, and trust that you and Mr. Justice will be able to fight this out at a closer range than has been done in the past few weeks.

I am very respectfully yours,
E. G. SHERRILL,
Chairman.

THE REGIMENTAL LAUNDRY

By AMBROSE MENDENHALL

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

This story has one merit—the incident really happened.

Before one of the tents of one of these regimental camping grounds a young soldier, Billy Olcott, was cleaning his musket. He was the wag of his regiment and never let an opportunity pass to perpetrate a joke on any of his comrades. He was especially hard on the recruits that came in from time to time, sending them on all kinds of errands that a veteran would know to be ridiculous. He was well liked, except for this propensity, which he carried too far. His veteran associates laughed heartily at his practical jokes. But every greenhorn who came to be a trained soldier itched for an opportunity to take a good natured revenge.

One day a body of patriots who had just exchanged their ordinary habiliments for uniforms arrived from the north and were turned in on the seasoned men of Billy's regiment like shovelfuls of soft earth thrown on well trampled ground. One of these unfortunates, seeing Billy cleaning his musket and desiring information, walked up to him and said:

"Say, can you tell me where I can get my washing done around here?"

Billy looked up at him with a stare. Now, it must be remembered that to a soldier at the front in wartime a wash tub is as far away, as much of a luxury, as a table d'hôte menu. Soldiers' clothes in war are seldom washed, and when they are they are taken to a creek, rubbed between the knuckles in lieu of a washboard and the dirt spots blurred over the whole garment. But even this laundering is practiced only till the soldier learns to get on with a flannel shirt that shows little dirt and can be worn for months without looking very disreputable.

Billy, as I was saying, looked up at the greenhorn with a stare. The recruit surmised that the veteran was thinking where he could send him to get his linen laundered, and so he was. Finally, having concentrated his mind on just where the regimental laundry was located, Billy said:

"Do you see those three tents up there on that knoll?"

The recruit admitted that he did. "Well, you go up there and wait till that sentry walks to one end of his beat, and while his back is turned you, just before he turns, go into the center tent, and there's where the washing is done. Mind, don't try to go in when the sentry sees you, or he'll stop you. There's a lot of red tape up there."

The recruit thanked Billy for his courteous information and started up the hill, Billy watching him. Following directions implicitly, the greenhorn waited till the sentry reached the end of his beat, then stepped quickly into the center tent. A man with a star on his shoulder was sitting at a pine table writing. At the recruit's entry he looked up, surprised that the intruder had passed the sentry and entered unannounced.

"Is this the place where the washing is done?" asked the visitor.

The general stared at him in some such fashion as Billy had done.

"Did some one tell you to come here to get your washing done?"

"Yes."

"Could you take me to the man who told you that?"

"I think I can."

The general picked up his hat and strolled down the incline accompanied by the recruit. Billy was still cleaning his gun and chuckling at his joke when, looking up, he saw the recruit he had directed to headquarters coming with the general. As they approached Billy stood up straight as a ramrod and saluted.

"That's the man," said the recruit to the general.

"Call the corporal of the guard," said the general to Billy.

"Corporal of the guard!" yelled Billy. The corporal came, saluted, and the general said to him, "Corporal, take a couple of the guard and escort that man," pointing to Billy, "down to the creek and have him wash this man's clothes. See that the laundering is well done."

The general returned to his tent, the corporal brought the two men, the recruit produced his soiled clothes, and a procession of jeering men escorted Billy down to the creek, where, under the superintendence of the corporal, he did the recruit's laundering.

This ended Billy Olcott's gulling recruits. He smarted under the ridicule he had incurred and burned to do something to remove it, for he was constantly jeered by his comrades about his laundry and asked to wash their soiled clothes. Possibly this had something to do with his future career. At any rate, he distinguished himself at Chickamauga and was made a Lieutenant. Having started up hill, he continued to climb till the end, when he came out a colonel.

MARK TWAIN'S CLOTHES.

The Great Humorist Always Had a Relish For Personal Effect.

At the time of our first meeting Mark Twain was wearing a sealskin coat, with the fur out, in the satisfaction of a caprice or the love of strong effect which he was apt to indulge through life. Fields, the publisher, was present.

I do not know what droll comment was in Fields' mind with respect to this garment, but probably he felt that here was an original who was not to be brought to any Bostonian book in the judgment of his vivid qualities. With his crest of dense red hair and the wide sweep of his flaming mustache Clemens was not discordantly clothed in that sealskin coat, which afterward, in spite of his own warmth in it, sent the cold chills through me when I once accompanied it down Broadway, and shared the immense publicity it won him.

Clemens had always a relish for personal effect, which expressed itself in the white suit of complete serge which he wore in his last years and in the Oxford gown which he put on for every possible occasion and said he would like to wear all the time. That was not vanity in him, but a keen feeling for costume which the severity of our modern tailoring forbids men, though it flatters women to every excess in it.—W. D. Howells in Harper's Magazine.

Capt. Bogardus Again Hits the Bull's Eye.

This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says:—"I suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and used several medicines, all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self." Sold by Howard Gardner.

WISHED SHE HADN'T.

Obliging Young Woman Makes An Embarrassing Mistake.

Jermyn (Texas) Enterprise.

A funny thing happened to a young lady who was attending her church a few Sundays ago. Sitting directly before her was a tall, well-dressed stranger with a piece of raveling hanging down his back, over his collar.

Being a young lady of accommodating turn, one of those warm-hearted, good girls, who grow to be motherly ladies, a friend to everybody, she thought how glad she would be if some kind-hearted girl would do as much for her father if he should come to church with a raveling hanging down his back. Besides, the thing worried her because of the uncouth appearance presented. So, as the congregation arose for prayer, she concluded to pull it off.

Carefully raising her hand, she gave it a little twitch, but there was more of the thread appearing. Setting her teeth, she gave another pull, and about a yard more hung down his back. That was getting embarrassing, but with a resolve to do or die she gave another yank, and discovered that she was unraveling his underwear. Chloroform would not have alleviated her suffering, nor a pint of powder have hidden her blushes, when the gentleman turned to see what was tickling his back.

DIAMONDS AND CARBON.

Their Value Vastly Different, But Composition the Same.

Edgar Lucien Larkin, in the Nautilus Magazine.

You may purchase equal quantities of carbon for 5 cents or a million dollars. A bargain hunter might invest a nickel and get a package of pure lampblack; the million would secure a blazing diamond, easily turned into lampblack; not so easily—intense heat would be required. However, coal and wood are really more valuable than diamonds—they surrender life-giving heat, while the only use so far discovered for diamonds is to cut glass, and for this carborundum is a good substitute.

All diamonds in existence could be annihilated without loss to mankind. But then to vaporize diamonds would be costly, as the enormous heat of 12,632 degrees Fahrenheit in the concentration of an electric furnace would be required, and then you might get enough graphite to make a "lead" pencil or a little fine stove polish.

MAKING GOOD

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good"; and Dr. Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards. A good, honest square-deal medicine of known composition is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for. Don't buy

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for woman's special ailments.

It makes weak women strong, sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago.

As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve it is unequalled. It won't satisfy those who want "booze," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy.

COL. HENRY AT PROXIMITY

Discussed the Tariff and Some Other Subjects Last Night.

Col. Walter R. Henry, of Charlotte, held forth to a good-sized audience last night at Proximity. The Colonel discussed the issues generally and he also had a good deal to say about the tariff.

He said the Republican party was for a high protective tariff. The Wilson-Gorman tariff law was severely excoriated by the bulky Colonel. It was passed in 1894, but he said it caused the panic of 1893, for the people, said he, saw it from afar, realized its dangers and the panic ensued.

Col. Henry rolled as a sweet morsel under his tongue Grover Cleveland's description of the Wilson Gorman tariff bill as a thing of "perfidy and dishonor."

He had a good deal to say about the farmers in the West burning wheat and corn for fuel in the hard times resulting from the panic of 1893.

He spoke in a loud tone of voice, his hearers experiencing no difficulty whatever in hearing every syllable that he said. Not a single cry of "louder" was heard.

DIXON'S PLAY WELL RECEIVED

"The Sins of the Father" Presented by a Very Clever Lot of Actors—Mr Dixon Talked To Audience and Justified His Writing of Such a Play.

Tom Dixon's much talked of play "The Sins of the Father" was seen at the Grand yesterday, matinee and night. The house for the matinee was very scattering and it was not overly large last night. But what it lacked in size it made up in enthusiasm, for Mr. Dixon could not complain of the reception given his play by the play-goers who ventured to go out last night and see what "The Sins of the Father" is like.

The several roles—there are only five or six—were well filled. There wasn't a weak actor in the lot. Miss Ethel Wright as the girl in whose veins negro blood was found to run, was pretty much all of what one could fairly expect. The young man who loved her and refused to renounce her when he found her mother was an octoroon lacked force somewhat, but otherwise measured up to his opportunities faithfully.

John J. Pierson, in the role of the disgusting "father" in the case, was thoroughly capable. In fact it was a good cast throughout. At the end of the second act Mr. Dixon came on the stage and answered his critics after the fashion that has previously been reported in these columns. He said he looked upon the theatre as a great moral force and that in writing a drama touching on the mixture of the races he aimed to teach a great moral lesson. The business of the dramatist was, he said, to hold the mirror up to nature. He declared that in calling attention to the sin which is portrayed in the play he had the approval of the womanhood of the South and that scores of sweet faced women had thanked him for writing the play. He ridiculed the Richmond papers sharply for their criticisms. He denied that there was anything indecent in "The Sins of the Father."

Police News.

Sam Bradshaw, Jr. and Frank Abbott, of Reidsville, have been cited to appear in Municipal court this morning on the charge of engaging in an affray. The affray occurred late last night on South Elm.

A negro woman, Mattie Caviness, was locked up last night on the charge of being disorderly. She will be given a hearing this morning.

A Weary Celebrity.

When Mrs. Roger A. Pryor was a young woman living in Charlottesville, Va., visiting authors seldom reached the beautiful university town. "Thackeray, Dickens and Miss Martineau passed us by," says Mrs. Pryor in her book entitled "My Day—Reminiscences of a Long Life." But Frederika Bremer condescended to spend a night with her compatriot, Baron Schele de Vere of the university faculty, on her way to the south.

Schele de Vere invited a choice company to spend the one evening Miss Bremer granted him. Her works were extremely popular with the university circle, and every one was on tiptoe of pleased anticipation.

While the waiting company eagerly expected her the door opened—not for Miss Bremer, but for her companion, who announced:

"Miss Bremer, she beg excuse. She ver' tired and must sleep. If she come she gape in your noses."
